TEACHER INTERN PROGRAM DESIGN

The Teacher Intern Program focuses on a way of thinking about teaching that includes planning and preparation, classroom management, instruction, and professional responsibilities. With a foundation in liberal arts, teacher candidates engage in studies and experiences about educational theory, research, collaboration, reflection, and professional development. Current trends, best practices, and performance assessment are inherent in the program design, with outcomes that satisfy national, state, and local standards of excellence. Academic standards of basic education, program licensure standards, performance standards, and the code of professional conduct are also embedded in the Teacher Intern Program through a study of the regulations, of educational research, and of professional practice.

TEACHER INTERN PROGRAM LEARNING GOALS

In keeping with the mission and professional frameworks of the Susquehanna University Department of Education and the certification standards established by the Pennsylvania Department of Education, Teacher Intern Program candidates will:

- Apply content knowledge, decision-making skills, and sound judgments inherent in the learning and teaching process.
- Develop skills and techniques to both communicate in various contexts and to collaborate with educational partners.
- Exhibit the professional ethics, teaching competencies, and personal behaviors required of aspiring educators.
- Reflect on their professional practice to enhance teaching and learning.
- Synthesize their research-based best practices during field experiences and student teaching, while producing a summative exhibition of their teaching knowledge, skills, and dispositions – the professional portfolio.

Program Description

In an effort to attract teaching talent in individuals not presently certified to teach, the Pennsylvania Department of Education established the Pennsylvania Teacher Intern Program. This program invites holders of baccalaureate degrees to gain teaching credentials by completing professional education courses at an approved Pennsylvania college/university.

Additional information is available at the Pennsylvania Department of Education website: <http://www.education.pa.gov/>.

Susquehanna University is one of the Pennsylvania universities to offer this program. The university's convenient location in east-central Pennsylvania, combined with evening, hybrid, and summer course offerings, enable interested candidates to complete teacher certification requirements according to their own time demands and schedules.

Criteria for Admission

The Teacher Intern Program has defined criteria for admission that assess candidates' potential for teaching through the examination of skills, academic preparation, qualifying work experience, and the ability to flourish in a teaching situation.

- Teacher Intern Program candidates must hold a minimum of a baccalaureate degree from an approved college/university and must satisfy the requirements for the academic major in which they want to certify as described under that department in the current Susquehanna University catalog.
- Candidates entering a Teacher Intern Program must have completed their highest degree with a minimum GPA of 3.0. Candidates with a lower GPA can be provisionally accepted and demonstrate their competence by completing 12 semester hours of coursework with a GPA of 3.0 or higher.

In addition to the course requirements listed below, candidates for the Teacher Intern Program may have to complete additional coursework to qualify for the program or to satisfy state requirements for certification in a specific subject area. A transcript review will determine whether a candidate will be required to take additional coursework.

Professional Conduct

The Director of Teacher Interns reserves the right to judge the suitability of students for professional teaching practice and continued enrollment in Susquehanna's Teacher Intern Program. This is consistent with the Director's responsibility in accordance with the PA Dept. of Education's teacher certification process. In addition, practicum students (those in the schools observing and/or aiding a teacher) and student teachers must follow the policies of the host school district. Practicum students and student teachers are held to a professional standard of behavior as specified by the Pennsylvania Code of Professional Practice and Conduct for Educators and will be removed from a school site by a building administrator for unprofessional conduct.

Continued Enrollment

A student who is not enrolled in coursework for two semesters in a row automatically ends their enrollment in the Teacher Intern Program. The PA Department of Education requires continual enrollment (a minimum of one course per spring and fall semester) for students who hold the Teacher Intern Certification. A lapse in enrollment ends the period of Teacher Intern certification.

Field Experiences and Student Teaching

Field Experience

Field experiences (Classroom Observations) are an important component of the Teacher Intern Program. These experiences allow candidates to apply principles and theories learned in their academic coursework to actual practice in the classroom setting. Field experiences also provide opportunities for interactions with diverse populations, ages, and school settings.

The Pennsylvania Department of Education requires field experience totaling 190 hours, prior to student teaching. These 190 hours include 40 hours of observation and exploration and 150 hours of pre-student teaching interaction with teachers and students. Some of the 150 hours will take place throughout the required coursework and will align and integrate with the topics of focus in the course materials, and program goals.

Consideration for field experience credit will be given to recent experience in working with children in an instructional setting but will still be required in a variety of courses. Candidates will record recent experiences on the Field Experience Log given to the Director of the Teacher Intern Program during the program intake process.

Student Teaching

Student teaching requires a minimum of 12 weeks and is worth 12 credits. These are full-time assignments and are arranged through the Director of the Teacher Intern Program. School sites for student teaching are planned early in the semester prior to the student teaching experience. Additional time may be added to the beginning or end of the 12-week assignment to meet the required field experience hours.

School sites for student teaching are selected from school districts within a 50-mile radius of Susquehanna University. The university's teacher intern supervisors will observe the interns at least four times during the student teaching experience, and intern student teachers will attend at least four seminars led by the director of teacher interns. The development of a professional portfolio is a program exit requirement for those not student teaching in their own classroom.

Prior to student teaching, candidates must have a tuberculosis screening and must secure current clearances and Mandated Reporter Training.

Candidates must achieve satisfactory ratings (from a university supervisor) on the assessments of their student teaching experience. The areas assessed include planning and preparation, instruction, the classroom environment, and professionalism.

Upon successfully completing all program requirements with a GPA of 3.0 or higher, teacher interns are eligible to apply for an Instructional I Teaching Certificate through the Pennsylvania Department of Education.

Registration Information

Updated 6/10/24

When registering for any course, always indicate that you are enrolled in the Teacher Intern Program to receive the intern tuition rate. Identify the director of the Teacher Intern Program as your advisor. Your first registration will be completed by emailing the Director of Teacher Interns.

Except for the “methods block” courses (6-16 credits) and student teaching (12 credits), candidates may meet the above requirements through transfer of similar course work previously earned from other accredited colleges/universities and approved by Susquehanna University. Approved teacher intern candidates who wish to complete some requirements at other colleges must secure approval from the director of the Teacher Intern Program prior to enrolling in “outside” courses. All teacher intern candidates will already hold a baccalaureate degree. Most will have completed a major in an academic field relating to the teaching certification area they are seeking. For those who need additional courses to complete an approved major, the additional course work must meet Susquehanna University’s requirements for the intended major or the Praxis tests must be passed early to substitute for this coursework.

Teacher Interns may enroll in day classes; however, they may not “displace” undergraduate students from available seats. If undergraduate enrollments fill a class to capacity, the class will not be available to teacher interns.

While the university intends to offer all professional education courses within each 12-month period, availability of classes will depend on individual courses meeting required minimum enrollment levels. Please be advised that classes are offered only when there is sufficient enrollment.

Program Acceptance Letter

Upon acceptance into the Teacher Intern Program, the candidates will receive a Program Acceptance Letter which will specify the courses and requirements needed for Pennsylvania Teacher Certification – Instructional I certificate.

Teacher Intern Certificate

If you have passed the Praxis/PECT and have maintained a 3.0 GPA, the Intern Certification becomes an option. If you become aware of a teaching position that you would like to apply for during the course of your Teacher Intern Program – an Intern Certificate from the PA Department of Education can qualify you for this position while you earn credits towards your Instructional I certification. If this need arises, please contact the program director for Letter of Intern Candidacy that can accompany your job application. You can apply online for the PA Intern Certificate through the TIMS system. This PA Intern Certificate is valid for three years and costs $200.

Fees

All teacher intern course work will be charged at the teacher intern rate per credit hour (see Admission and Fees tab on the website). Tuition costs are subject to change according to university increases.
